City Council advance with iPads

By Gregory A. Scibelli Turley Publications Correspondent

AGAWAM – When Council President Christopher Johnson prepares for his regular city council meeting twice a month, he must bring a stack of paperwork with him to the meeting.

When a particular agenda item comes up for discussion, he must sift through that stack to find his notes with comments and questions, or information he needs to reference.

But last week, the days of sifting through the mountain of paperwork ended as the Agawam City Council members were issued new iPad tablet computers that will streamline data reference and distribution of information to the city councilors.

Johnson said the idea came from his experience as a trustee for Springfield Technical Community College.

"When I go to a trustee meeting, all I have to come with is this," Johnson said, showing his iPad. "I can find anything I want, and there are links to different files on the agenda."

Last Monday night, Jeff Hulbert, the information technology director for the town, held a workshop for the councilor members to teach them how to use the iPads.

The tablets have normal functions for tablets, but their main function for council members is the use of BoardPaq, an application program that allows the councilors to keep their agendas and files organized.

For example, the council agenda each week consists of approving the minutes from the previous meeting. Using BoardPaq, a councilor can scroll down to the agenda item asking for the approval of the minutes. Below the agenda item will be a link to the minutes. The councilor can touch the file and open it and review the meeting minutes.

If a councilor desires, any of those files can be printed out from a home printer. Johnson hopes councilors take advantage of the application and saves on paper.

Possible zone change for duplex raises neighbors' ire

By Gregory A. Scibelli Turley Publications Correspondent

AGAWAM – Neighbors have spoken out against a proposed zone change that would have allowed the D'Amato family to create eight or nine duplex homes at 105 Rowley St.

After airing their concerns to the Agawam City Council and the Planning Board, the neighbors won the first half of the battle last Thursday.

The Planning Board voted 3-0 not to recommend the zone change to the Agawam City Council.

The Agawam City Council opened the public hearing at its Sept. 15 meeting, but continued the hearing because the Planning Board had not closed their hearing and made a recommendation. For zone changes, the Planning Board serves as an advisory board to the city council.

The Planning Board hearing was concluded last Thursday night. Several neighbors spoke out against the plans for a small housing development presented by Michael Parker, a family friend of the D'Amato family.

The property owner, James D'Amato, is mentally disabled. Parker says the family is looking to develop several acres of the property currently zoned agricultural and sell the building lots to have money to care for D'Amato.

"The D'Amato family would like for James to stay where he is and be comfortable for the remainder of his life," said Parker.

Parker said they are proposing duplex houses because the market is not as good for single-family homes currently.

Neighbors are against the plan because they believe it will change the character of their neighborhood. Residents of Rowley Street

Sports complex proposal deflated by board

By Gregory A. Scibelli Turley Publications Correspondent

AGAWAM – The Agawam Planning Board voted unanimously not to recommend a zone change that would allow DCJ Realty to install a sports complex that would include inflatable domed soccer fields and other sports fields on South West Street on property currently owned by Northeast Utilities, the parent company of Western Massachusetts Electric Company.

More than 120 people packed into the conference room at the Agawam Public Library for the Planning Board's public hearing on the proposal.

The zoning change would have turned the residential property into Business-A commercial property.

During the public hearing, an informal poll was taken of those in attendance. An overwhelming majority raised their hand, saying they were against the project. A small number, less than 10 people, raised their hands saying they favored the proposal.

While the public hearing was to rule on the zone change, the actual proposal was called into question throughout the hearing.

Don Ferman, who made a presentation on behalf of Amherst native Donald Cameron III, showed how several acres of land off South West Street and Tobacco Farm Road would be utilized to construction four regular soccer fields. Cameron also proposed basketball and tennis courts as part of the plan. He said he included them in the plan for the "good of the community."

Cameron said the facility would have two inflatable domes that would allow soccer tournament to be played during the winter months. He says the domes would blend in with the area during the Don Humason, R-Westfield, to the Massachusetts Military Asset and Security Strategy Task Force (MASS-TF), pursuant to Section 3 of Chapter 48 of the Acts of 2014, An Act Encouraging the Improvement, Expansion, and Development of Military Installations in the Commonwealth.

"Senator Humason approached me and requested that I name him to the Task Force," Tarr stated. "Having spoken with Don numerous times about military and veterans issues in our state, and knowing of his strong support for both Barnes Air National Guard Base and Westover Air Reserve Base which are in the cities of Westfield and Chicopee that he represents, I thought he would be the perfect member of our caucus to serve in this capacity. Furthermore, he already serves on the Joint Committee on Veterans and Federal Affairs so Senator Humason is a good fit for

The MASS-TF was created by the Patrick-Murray Administration to begin a long-term initiative to support all military installations in Massachusetts in order to both collaborate with them and explore opportunities to bring new missions.

"I have long been a great admirer of the men and women of our nation's armed services and have tried to support them however I could, personally, professionally, and politically," Humason said. "I jumped at the chance to be named to the Task Force with the hope I could better serve and protect Barnes and Westover, but also do anything possible to position the Commonwealth's military installations in a favorable way for whatever the future may hold."

Humason maintains a district office for the convenience of his constituents at 64 Noble St., Westfield, 01085, (413) 568-1366.

'Fiz-Boom-Dance' to continue this fall

Students from the Mary Ann Studio of Dance present a dance and story hour in conjunction with the summer reading program at the Agawam Library.

The Mary Ann Studio of Dance was once again part of the summer reading program at the Agawam Children's Library with its "Fiz-Boom-Dance" nights.

Several times over the summer, the Mary Ann Studio of Dance presented a dance and story hour for children of various ages. April Mosher, an instructor at the studio, organized the program incorporating a story or two about dance, followed by the opportunity for participants to stretch out after story time and learn some dance moves.

Because of the popularity of the summer dance and story hour program, it will be continued at the library through the end of the year.

Opinion

Unity among neighbors a powerful voice

The Planning Board has heard your voices, Feeding Hills residents.

There was an outpouring of support to maintain the quiet neighborhood that can be found on South West Street.

Thanks to more than 100 people with standing room only in the Agawam Public Library conference room, a zone change that would have paved the way for small sports complex will not be recommended to the Agawam City Council.

Two Agawam City Councilors were in attendance at that public hearing last Thursday night, and hopefully, they will also pass along their observations of the meeting.

Planning Board Chairman Mark Paleologopoulos spoke correctly when he said a zone change is something that is supposed to benefit the community. There are also laws that protect residents from "spot zoning." Spot zoning is when a property is in a different zone than surrounding properties.

The sports complex would have been a prime example of spot zoning, with residential property surrounding the 65-acre property, and the residents were definitely not in favor of it.

The residents make a very good argument, simply based on the traffic issue.

In neighboring Southwick, the Motocross Nationals were held every year for 35 years. Each year, the event was bigger and bigger and drew more and more people. When the event would conclude at about 6 p.m. on Saturday, the number of cars leaving the small town created a dangerous situation. There are a limited number of ways out of Southwick, and many of those cars and trailers are in a hurry to get out of town.

A sports complex would draw very large crowds to the South West Street area. There are only a limited number of outlets from that area, making side streets in the neighborhood more prone to hurried drivers trying to get in or out of the complex.

This zone change and project would also create an excessive amount of activity and noise during the weekends, when most of these residents are trying to enjoy the quiet of their homes.

While it can be argued that this zone change could benefit the community because it would provide more fields for local soccer teams, is it not worth disturbing the peace of this neighborhood.

There is commercial property in town that would be better suited for a project like this. That is what the people want, and they did a great job making their voices heard. Let's hope the city council is listening to their voters.

The Return of Jesus Christ

TIM REED hany Assembly of God

John 14:1-3 "Do not let your heart be troubled; believe in God, believe also in Me. 2 In my Father's house are many dwelling places; if it were not so, I would have told you; for I go to prepare a place for you. 3 If I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you to Myself, that where I am, there you may be also.

According to Jesus, God the Father is personally and purposely performing a plan to redeem mankind. The words Jesus spoke to the disciples were meant to bring encouragement and peace - especially since they were about to witness the most horrific moments of their life in the very near future. But the promise of John 14:1-3 was meant to sustain them and future Christians in the days, weeks and years to come while they anxiously anticipated His return.

The members of the early church were very passionate about the soon return of the Lord and the modern church should never wane in its expectancy or earnest anticipation for the sudden appearing of Jesus to catch His bride away. 1 Thes. 4:16-18 16 For the Lord himself will come down from heaven, with a loud command, with the voice of the archangel and with the trumpet call of God, and the dead in Christ will rise first. 17 After that, we who are still alive and are left will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And so we will be with the Lord forever. 18 Therefore encourage one another with these words.

This is one of the most emotionally dynamic elements of the Christian faith and it could take place any moment. As a follower of Christ, I realize this world is NOT my home, I am a stranger just passing through and my citizenship is in Heaven. Jesus has promised to return for those who are waiting for Him and He will keep His promise! Sadly, some Christians have become too attached to the world. We are reminded very clearly in 1 John 2:15-17 how we should interact with worldly things: "15 Do not love the world or anything in the world. If anyone loves the world, love for the Father is not in them. 16 For everything in the world-the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life-comes not from the Father but from the world.

The old adage, "Whoever has the most toys wins," has subtly crept into the life of the western church. But Jesus said, "Where your treasure is there your heart will be also." Faith in Jesus makes all the difference with how you look at life. Are you anxiously anticipating the soon return of the Lord Jesus Christ? If you are a person of genuine faith you know how much this promise to return that Jesus made really matters. Maranatha, even so come quickly Lord Jesus.

and the Lango Lane development were against it.

Patrick Kevane of Lango Lane said he did not feel the duplex subdivision would be appropriate.

"We have all single family homes here," said Kevane. "If you put these duplexes in, they are going to negatively affect our property values."

Kevane said the concept of duplexes, which are two-family homes, suggests there will be landlords purchasing the homes and having multiple tenants. He is concerned the properties will not be properly cared for.

We don't know if there will be absentee land owners," said Kevane. "I feel bad for James, but I don't feel that is an appropriate reason for this zone change."

Ed Shibley expressed concern over safety. He says installing a new street in the area would create line of sight issues under the proposal.

Neighbor Roy Benjamin agreed.

"I can appreciate the situation the D'Amatos have," said Benjamin. "But I do not think this is a good idea."

Planning Board Chairman Mark Paleologopoulos agreed with the views of the neighbors.

"The purpose of a zone change is something that will benefit the community," said Paleologopoulos. "This zone change will only benefit one person. It is not a good thing for Agawam."

Fellow board members Nick Pandolfi and Tricia O'Grady-Howard both agreed and voted not to recommend the zone change to the Agawam City Council.

The same neighbors expressed similar concerns to the city council and had their comments recorded for the record. The city council's public hearing will continue at its Oct. 6 meeting, where the recommendation of the Planning Board and the Legislative Subcommittee will be considered.

Eight votes are needed for the zone change.

"It's a paperless system and it is how many boards and committees are doing business now," said Johnson. "I would rather use one of these than have a stack of paperwork to bring to each meeting.'

The new paperless system also saves time for the council's administrative assistant, who was previously responsible for mailing out or delivering packets to the councilors the Thursday before each meeting. Now, the agendas and their accompanying paperwork will be uploaded to the BoardPaq application. When an individual councilor connects to the Internet, those files will be uploaded to their tablet and available for review.

"It is really a great idea," said Councilor Robert Rossi. "It will cut down on paper and make it easier to find information with the push of a button."

Councilor Anthony Suffriti said he was happy to see the movement to tablets, saying it is how he does business with

"It's very efficient," said Suffriti.

Another advantage with the tablets is it allows new information to be sent to councilors at any time between meet-cold months. The facility could be a location for soccer tournaments and would be a home for Cameron's Premier Youth Soccer League team.

The South West Street and Tobacco Farm Road neighborhood in Feeding Hills is a densely populated residential neighborhood.

While there was nearly 100 residents who raised their hands opposing the zone change, only a small number needed to speak to get their views across.

We have zoning laws in place that are supposed to help protect the residents," said Dale Bogelisch. "This proposal will bring in droves of people. This is contradictory to preserving our nice, quiet neighborhood."

Bogelisch pointed out there are no sewers in the area. Cameron said he would either be installing a septic system or would use portable bathrooms, a smell concern for neighbors. He also said tournaments would last entire weekends, ruining quiet weekends in the neighborhood.

Jack Laflamme, another resident in the neighborhood, cautioned the Planning Board about recommending the zone change.

"If this plan fell through," said Laflamme. "Someone else could use this zoning and put something else in."

Another resident in attendance at the hearing suggested the idea of a sports complex with more soccer fields is a great idea, but the location is wrong.

Other concerns about the zone change included increased traffic the side street cannot handle, and people traveling fast or cutting through other side streets to leave the area and avoid traffic. Planning Board Chairman Mark Paleologopoulos opposed the zone change, agreeing with resident concerns about the traffic, and possibility of what could happen to a businesszoned property if the sports complex were to close.

With the vote not to recommend the zone change, the Agawam City Council will hear the zone change request at their Oct. 20 meeting. Councilors Anthony Suffriti and James Cichetti both attended the public hearing. Suffriti said he is undecided about the zone change.

"I have not fully decided how I will vote," said Suffriti. "But I attended the public hearing so I could hear the concerns of the residents. It is clear they are against this."

In the fourth season of the program, Agawam Robotics' FIRST Tech Challenge (FTC) had its season kick-off Sept. 9. FIRST, For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology, provides extracurricular STEM hands-on activities where students learn by doing, and are able to explore potential career paths by working side-by-side with mentors from every walk of life.

FTC is primarily a high-school program, but Agawam has successfully stepped up to this challenge with seventh- and eighth-grade students. Due to a gradual growth of the robotics programs in town, FTC has grown from six students to 21 students, resulting in a second team coached by Edwin and Wincy Chan. FIRST robotics in town is now reaching about 200 students from grades 2 through 12.

Those in attendance at the informational meeting included the Chans, coaches Jay and Charlene Cameron, as well as members of both teams. This year's challenge, "Cascade Effect," will involve plastic baseballs and golf balls that are collected and scored in tubes of various heights. There are scrimmages in the fall and qualifying competitions in January and February, with the state qualifier in early March.

"Returning for a second year in the MIGHTY Mechanics robotics club and seeing the enthusiasm at the 2014-15 kickoff, it's clear to my son and me that there will be even more for the students involved with FIRST and participating in the FTC robotics competitions," said parent Jay Snow. "Besides seeing the enjoyment of the students building the robots, the club offers a significant chance for them to explore and recognize real-life career opportunities in manufacturing, engineering and computer science, which is precisely what FIRST is all about."

Agawam robotics will host a fundraising ziti dinner in October and a FIRST LEGO League (FLL) state qualifying tournament in December. For more information, visit agawamrobotics.org.

September is a perfect time for an old-fashioned picnic – and to start a new tradition.

Agawam High School's Class of 2015 blazed a new trail for future classes when it held its first "kickoff barbecue." The recent four-hour, Sunday afternoon picnic was held on the school's football field.

What makes this outing different is that most senior class activities are held close to graduation. The Class of 2015's new officers – President Jeffrey Leclerc, Vice President Marisa Ewing, Secretary Steve Mateus, and Treasurer Mike Costello – decided on a class picnic after being elected last spring.

"This was a fresh idea we created with the help and contribution of our class," said Ewing. "We hope to start a new tradition for future classes with this picnic."

Starting a new tradition

Ewing added that the picnic was created primarily as a way to bring the senior class together at the start of their final school year. "We wanted to kick off our senior year with a class event that would get everyone excited."

Leclerc said the picnic was "a very good way" to start the school year. "We can build off of this for events to come. It was also reassuring to know that we set a precedent for the classes to come."

More than 100 students from the 290-member class attended the picnic – one of the largest turnouts of many previous "outside-of-school events," according to Leclerc. "Everyone who came had a good time."

A $5 admission charge helped to cover expenses. "We had planned on having to withdraw money from our class funds to pay for the picnic, but we made more than $200 after paying for police and custodian coverage," said Leclerc.

Those costs – $350 -- were the largest expenses. Donations from local businesses, including American Classics Restaurant, Big Y and Stop & Shop supermarkets, E.B's Restaurant, Frigo's Foods, Giovanni's Italian Pastry and Coffee Shop, The Ice Cream Shoppe, and T&R Wholesale Foods, helped keep expenses to a minimum for the picnic.

"We want to thank the businesses that donated for helping to make the day a fundraiser for our class," said Leclerc. He said money raised will go into the class fund and may be used toward the purchase of a class gift at the end of the school year.

"Good for them," said AHS Principal Steve Lemanski. He joined teacher Mary Bonavita and parent Pam Root for cooking duties at the picnic. "I'm quite pleased with what they did to put this together so early in the year."

Lemanski said he met with class officers during the summer to discuss their plans. "They organized it and did most of the work – we just helped get some of the permits and arrange for the police officer."

Dunk tank a popular fundraiser

In addition to charging admission, the picnic raised money with a dunk tank. For $1 a throw – or $5 for three throws – students pitched softballs in an effort to send a willing teacher or administrator sliding into a tank of cold water

"People loved it," said Leclerc, who also took a turn on the dunk tank seat. The seat flipped down if a softball struck the target – dumping the person on the seat into the tank. "We made $75 on the dunk tank," he added.

The first teacher to sit behind a protective cage as softballs were hurled was Shawn Tatro. An English teacher at the school, he's also the advisor to this year's senior class.

He took a "dunking" several times as softballs found the target. "It was fun." Tatro added that he volunteered to be first so he could "warm it up" for AHS Assistant Principal Susan Feyre, who followed him. (Lemanski did not participate in the dunk tank because he was still recovering from a back injury.)

Tatro said waiting to be dunked for the first time was the worst part. "After that, it was actually quite refreshing."

Tatro said he gives the class leaders a lot of credit for taking the initiative to organize the picnic. "They did it for all the right reasons – and I think it now will become an annual event."

Students praise picnic

In addition to some traditional and not so traditional foods – hot dogs, hamburgers, chips, salad, pasta, and cotton candy – there was music and games, such as volleyball, soccer, and Kan Jam. Seniors could also win several raffle prizes, such as a free parking pass or gift cards.

Several seniors who came to the picnic said they thought it was a good class activity.

"It's a good way to get us started for the year," said Samantha Henry.

"I was leery about going to the picnic, but the more I thought about it, the more fun it sounded," added her friend and classmate, Kyla McGurn.

Tim Cooper agreed with those sentiments and said he was "looking forward to getting closer" to his classmates by coming to the picnic.

Annie Mozzer called the picnic "really cool" and a "unique" class event.

"It's really fun – I'm glad I came."

Brownies big second stops Chicopee

By Gregory A. Scibelli Turley Publications Sports Correspondent

AGAWAM – The Agawam football team scored 20 of their 28 points in the second quarter, and that was more than enough offense for the Brownies as they defeated Chicopee for the second straight season 28-7 last Friday night at Harmon A. Smith Field.

Agawam started at Chicopee's 40-yard line after a poor punt. On the first play of the second quarter, Troy Gallerani found receiver Jason Carleton on the right side with no one guarding him. Carleton made a great over-the-shoulder catch to score six points for the hosts. Sean Moore made a point-after kick to make it 7-0.

Later in the second quarter, Agawam blocked a Chicopee punt deep in the Pacer end of the field. Agawam recovered the ball and started at Chicopee's 8-yard line with a first and goal. A few plays later, Dominic Grassetti made a quick juke toward the right side and finished with an 11-yard run for a touchdown. Moore's point-after kick made it 14-0.

With time waning in the second quarter, Chicopee got their only score of the game, capping a short drive with a touchdown pass. Tony Slaughter found teammate Sheldon Goodman on the far left for a 28-yard touchdown.

After a pair of punts, Agawam got another opportunity to score with a minute left. Gio Russo gave Agawam that chance with a near 50-yard punt return all the way to Chicopee's 19-yard line.

Russo started the short drive with a 6-yard run to the 13-yard line with 13.5 seconds left. After a timeout, Gallerani connected a short pass to Max Molta to get Agawam to the 4-yard line.

Gallerani attempted a pass into the end zone and missed his target, giving the Brownies one more play with 2.7 seconds left.

By Gregory A. Scibelli Turley Publications Sports Correspondent

AGAWAM – It has been a huge struggle for the Agawam field hockey team and their offense.

Agawam was shutout for the third straight time last Friday afternoon as they fell to visiting Frontier, 1-0.

Agawam's defense played an excellent game, and the decision came down to just one penalty stroke.

With 11:08 remaining in the first half, Frontier was attacking on the Agawam end. Frontier made a couple of small slashes toward the goal and goalie Katalina Gomez kicked the ball away. But the referee ruled that an Agawam defender had made an intentional kick of the ball and awarded Frontier a penalty stroke.

Jordyn Roberts received the shot, and made an excellent shot, lifting the ball to the far left side of the net to make it 1-0.

"It was really unfortunate for us," said coach Christine Huestis. "We did not allow them to score at all in this game. But we also had plenty of time to score a goal and get back into it, and we could not do that."

Frontier had several attacks on Agawam's goal. The Division 2 program has been improving over time, Huestis said, and looked strong throughout the afternoon against the Brownies.

Moore makes jump to football

By Gregory A. Scibelli Turley Publications Sports Correspondent

AGAWAM – Just a couple of months ago, Sean Moore was playing for the Agawam A boys soccer team in the Pioneer Valley Summer Soccer League.

The junior was preparing to compete for an opportunity to become the varsity goalie.

But on equipment day early in the football season, Moore walked into the office of head coach John Benjamin and asked to try out for football.

"I knew that him (Moore) coming from a soccer background meant he had the ability to possibly kick the ball," said Benjamin.

Now, three games into the regular season, fans at Agawam High School can be heard chanting for Moore, number 69 on the field, each time he is able to have a chance to kick the ball.

Kicking the ball has become a strength for the Brownies, and it has paid dividends in more than just the ability score the important "point-after" kick on a touchdown.

"It really gives us another big weapon we can use on defense," said Benjamin.

Moore has done an excellent job as the team's punter.

Brownies fall to Ludlow, Minnechaug

By Gregory A. Scibelli Turley Publications Sports Correspondent

AGAWAM – The Agawam boys soccer team was finally defeated in 2014 and suffered two straight losses against some of the best competition in Division 1.

Last Wednesday, the Brownies were defeated 3-2 in a night held at Ludlow.

The teams were an even matchup for the first 79:00 of the game, scoring single goals in both halves. But that changed in the final seconds as Nick Dos Santos tallied off Alex Sours with the game-winner to give the hosts the win.

Dos Santos took a free kick with about 5 seconds remaining in the game. His curving shot on goal went off the hands of Sours across the goal line for the win.

Nick Hanchett and Brodie Keene scored Agawam's goals with Kamer Nuhiu and Anthony Sciartelli providing the assists. Sours made seven saves.

Agawam was defeated by Minnechaug a few days earlier 2-0 for their first loss of the season.

The Brownies are now 3-2-1 for the season. They are in action Thursday hosting Cathedral at 4 p.m. They will play at West Springfield Monday at 4 p.m.

After another timeout to discuss it, Agawam went with a reverse to Carleton, a play that has worked several times this year. Carleton took the ball to the far left and into the end zone for the touchdown as time expired.

Agawam got the ball back to start the second half. Agawam ate nearly 8:00 of the clock before fumbling the ball away deep in Chicopee's end.

But Chicopee failed to gain any ground, and Agawam got great field position after the punt. Agawam had a third-and-goal situation as the fourth quarter began, and Russo made a 5-yard run up the middle to give Agawam the touchdown. He followed that with a short run for a two-point conversion.

Agawam's defense continued to keep Chicopee from getting anywhere near the end zone.

Gallerani finished going 4-for-9 for 73 yards and one touchdown. Russo ran 19 times for 82 yards. Grassetti ran 11 times for 53 yards. Each scored a touchdown.

Carleton had two touchdowns, one receiving and the other rushing. He made two catches for 54 yards.

For Chicopee, Slaughter went 5-for-13 for 53 yards and one touchdown pass. Ramiro Cruz was limited to 34 yards rushing on nine carries. Isaiah Jackson ran six times for 31 yards.

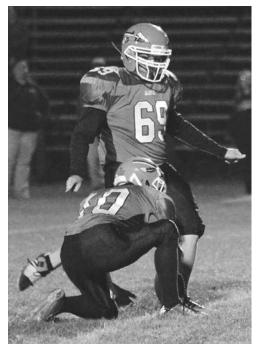

Agawam won their first Suburban League matchup of the season and improved to 2-1. They have a bye this week. Chicopee drops to 1-2 and hosts Chicopee Comp Saturday at Szot Park at 7 p.m.

and get the ball past Frontier's Kelly Moult-

Agawam got a penalty corner opportunity just 4:00 into the second half, but the chance was cleared away quickly by Frontier. The Hawks countered with a corner a few minutes later and sent the ball over Agawam's end line Agawam continued to try and push the ball up front, but Frontier's defense was strong. The Hawk defenders did an excellent job of blocking hard hit balls by the Brownies.

The Brownies were more aggressive during the final 15:00 of the game, with a few hard hit balls getting sent into the circle from near midfield.

Maggie Belanger had one of Agawam's best shots of the day, getting a shot with no defenders on her. But Moulton made a great kick save to preserve her shutout.

Sabrinna Dubiel would make another strong hit into the circle with about 3:00 remaining, but Frontier cleared the ball again with about 2:00 remaining.

"I was pleased with the way the girls played in the second half," said Huestis. "Unfortunately, we just were not able to tie it up."

Agawam dropped to 1-4 for the season. They were shut out by Minnechaug 2-0 on Sept. 12 and Longmeadow 6-0 on Sept. 10. They will look to start the road back to .500 Friday at Mohawk at 4 p.m.

"He has the ability to really kick the ball far," said Benjamin. "It really helps us when we have to punt the ball away really deep on our end of the field. If we have decent field position, we have the ability to pin the other deep inside their end and make things happen."

Moore's punts so far deep in Agawam's end have made their way about 50 yards.

"Usually, when a team is pinned deep, a normal high school punter can only get the ball out near midfield, and the other team ends up with great field position," said Benjamin. "Sean's punts are allowing us to keep other teams away from getting really good field position."

On the offensive side, Moore may sometime be called upon to kick a three-point field goal on a fourth down situation. The three-point field goal is one of the rarest offensive plays in high school football, but Moore's kicking ability has given Agawam that option.

In three games, Moore has failed on just one point-after attempt. That one failed kick happened last Friday night against Chicopee and was only because the Pacers beat the Agawam line and blocked the kick.

"He kicks the ball with such ease and it comes so natural to him," said Benjamin. "In practice, he can hit a field goal from 50 yards out."

Because a soccer goalie also uses his hands, Benjamin says the coaching staff has been working with Moore to develop receiving skills as well as blocking and other football skills to expand Moore's versatility.

"We are hoping Sean can develop into a great player," said Benjamin. "But he's already doing a great job kicking for us."

girls soccer team as a recent loss and tie have brought the Brownies to a 2-2-2 record for the regular season.

Last Friday afternoon, the Brownies met one of their toughest opponents of the season when they were defeated by Northampton on the road 4-0.

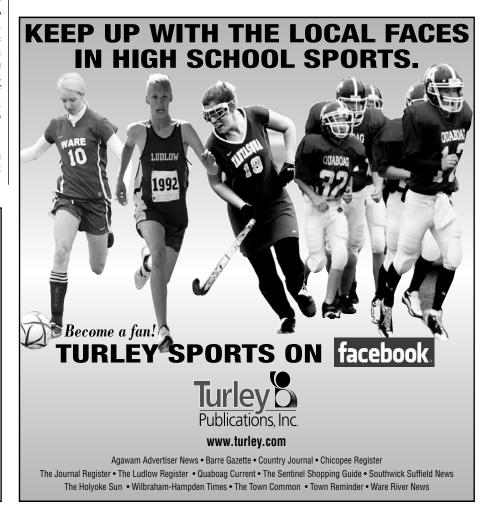

The Blue Devils offense had no trouble overcoming Agawam's defense in the first half as they came out and put three goals on the board. Agawam played better in the second half, as goalie Becca Uschmann allowed just one goal and made four saves.

Northampton's defense was excellent, as was goalie Sydney White. White made 13 saves and kept Agawam off the scoreboard.

The Brownies also tied Westfield 2-2 last week.

Agawam is back in action tomorrow hosting East Longmeadow at 7 p.m.

Free medical clinic at Bethany

A New Covenant Free Clinic is being co-sponsored by New Covenant Community Services and Bethany Assembly of God on Tuesday, Oct. 7, from 6-8 p.m. The clinic will provide non-emergent care for people age 18 and over.

"The mission is to provide medical care in the Pioneer Valley community by the serving body, mind and spirit with compassionate Christ centered care," said Dr. Kevin Snow, clinic physician.

Although people are required to have insurance in Massachusetts, in the current economic condition some people cannot afford the co-payments to see their primary care physician for immediate non-emergency medical issues. The free clinic is intended to help these individuals receive the medical care they so desperately need.

The staff of licensed medical care workers is volunteering their time and skills, and no revenue will be collected for the services provided. The entire team is committed to providing quality care on all levels. A visit to the clinic will include a demographic check-in, medical assessment, and spiritual encouragement. The free clinic will operate once a month at Bethany Assembly of God, 580 Main St., Agawam. All medical records will be kept in strict confidence.

For more information, call the clinic at (413) 363-0098.
